Memberships

SIPA memberships tailor to everyone; as an Irrigator you can vote at all annual and general meetings and be eligible to become a director.

An Associate Member is available to non-irrigators who have an interest in the industry and gives you the opportunity to vote at all meetings.

Potential Water Development Projects can become a member of SIPA as well. This membership level is for those irrigators that are not formally organized under legislative guidelines but gives you the chance to stay up to date with irrigation developments in SK.

Why join SIPA?

As a member of the association, you can enjoy the following benefits:

ADVOCACY, support an organization that seeks to ensure Saskatchewan's irrigation industry grows with input from the grassroots.

SUSTAINABILITY, contribute to a future of secure water allocation for irrigation development.

EXPERTISE, exchange information with other irrigators, industry representatives, and access studies commissioned by SIPA.

CONTRIBUTE, provide your voice and contribute to the direction of SIPA at general and annual meetings.

LEGACY, support the elected board of directors in the development of policies that will grow the industry to its full potential.
